IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT PROCEDURES FOR OPENING A NEW ACCOUNT, UPDATING AN ACCOUNT OR PERFORMING TRANSACTIONS

To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, Federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person who opens or updates an account or performs transactions.

What this means to you: When you open or update an account or perform a transaction, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth, and other information that will allow us to identify you. We may also ask to see your driver’s license or other identifying documents and retain copies of those documents.

When opening or updating an account, we may also ask other information of you required by current regulatory guidance such as if you perform money services business activities; if you may be related to any foreign political official; and what levels of different types of transactions you expect to perform in your account.
